Volunteer with 826 Valencia!

Mission: Storytelling & Bookmaking Field Trip

Help support our Storytelling and Bookmaking Field Trips in the Writing Lab at 826 Valencia! Every Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday, a new class writes the beginning of an original story, and then each student has the chance to write their very own ending.

Support Volunteers are the backbone of the entire Field Trip. These are the people who are taking pictures, facilitating the creation of character groups, tutoring students with their endings, engaging students in the writing process, and basically making sure the entire trip runs smoothly. As a Volunteer, you will be seated at a table among the students and egging on their creativity, specifically while students are creating characters and individual endings. After the students are out the door, Support Volunteers often pitch in to help bind books before they leave.

If you have any questions, please contact the Mission Center Field Trips team at fieldtrips@826valencia.org.
